He is employed [redacted] and has a mailing address of [redacted] Nevada [redacted]. This is a very small town approximately [redacted] of Las Vegas. He can be reached through a telephone contact there at [redacted]. He travels [redacted].

Approximately three weeks ago he was at the Las Vegas, Nevada, [redacted] where he had taken a friend, and upon returning to Las Vegas he volunteered to give two men a ride. [redacted] had a recent publication of the "National Enquirer" newspaper and while browsing through this paper, he came across a picture and article regarding the D. B. COOPER of this investigation. Reference San Francisco letter to the Bureau, dated 11/6/75.

On 1/23/76, SA [redacted] contacted [redacted]
[redacted] Napa, California, telephone number [redacted]

It is noted [redacted] on 11/4/75, furnished parts of an orange parachute he thought might have something to do with the hijacking/extortion matter in the captioned case, which occurred in 11/71. The parachute was returned to [redacted]

[redacted] advised during the early part of 12/75, they had returned to the area where he had found the parachute. He said he noted the area had at least four different ways or roads to use to get out of the immediate area. In addition, he advised they had gone by the abandoned car in the vicinity of where the parachute was returned. He noted this car appeared to be about a 1954 Ford, white in color, and it had a 1970
California license of [redacted]. He said based on the 1970 license, he is of the assumption this car had nothing to do with the hijacking, inasmuch as the hijacking occurred in 11/71. [redacted] advised he also went to the area of the log where the parachute was recovered by him and he did not find anything else.

[redacted] could furnish no additional information.

In view of the above, no additional investigation is being conducted relating to this parachute by the San Francisco Office unless advised to the contrary by the Seattle Office.

Recently in connection with the Norjak case, the Department of Justice has been attempting to determine if the Federal Statute of Limitations (five years) will apply to the unknown subject of captioned hijacking, and if in fact it does apply, then is it at this time, feasible to consider obtaining a "John Doe" indictment.

In an effort to completely review all pertinent evidence obtained and determine its present value if unknown subject was identified and brought to trial now or within the last three to five years, as well as, to determine if there is enough individually identifiable information in our possession to have a basis for obtaining a "John Doe" indictment, a Norjak conference will commence April 8, 1976, 8:30 a.m., at the SFO.

All receiving offices will send appropriate representatives insuring they possess complete knowledge of all investigative aspects of captioned case conducted within their respective division and a general overall insight into all investigation conducted to date. Each representative will be expected to offer suggestions as to new directions in which this investigation might proceed and/or furnish information to insure that all logical investigation has been conducted. It is absolutely necessary that we insure all investigative avenues have been 100 per cent exhausted.

BUFILE 164-2111

Enclosed are four (4) artists composites, two black and white, and two color, depicting the NORJAK unsub with and without glasses.

On November 24, 1971, a lone white male boarded Northwest Orient Flight #305 at Portland, Oregon. At approximately 3:22 P.M., while the flight was en route to Seattle, Washington, he indicated to the stewardess that his brief case contained a bomb which would blow up the plane unless his demands were met.

The hijacker demanded $200,000 and four parachutes in exchange for the safety of the 36 passengers aboard the plane. When the aircraft landed at Seattle, Northwest Orient Airlines complied with his instructions. After he received the parachutes and money, the hijacker allowed all passengers and the two airline stewardesses to deplane.

He then ordered the remaining crew members into the first-class section of the aircraft and informed them he desired to fly to Mexico City. The hijacker instructed that the plane proceed in a southerly direction and fly at a low altitude and slow speed which would enable the rear door of the plane to be opened during the flight.

The hijacker apparently bailed out somewhere between Seattle, Washington, and Reno, Nevada, where the plane landed to refuel. It was determined the hijacker, two parachutes, and the ransom money had disappeared when the plane was inspected at Reno, Nevada.

Sex:	Male
Age:	Mid 40's
Height:	5'10" to 6'
Weight:	170 to 180 lbs.
Complexion:	Olive, Latin appearance, medium smooth
Hair:	Dark brown or black, parted on the theft, combed back
Eyes:	Possibly brown, during later part of flight the hijacker put on dark wrap-around sunglasses with dark rims
Voice:	Low, spoke intelligently, no particular accent
Characteristics:	Smoked Raleigh filter type cigarettes
Wearing Apparel:	Black or brown suit; narrow black tie (clip on type); black dress suit; black rain type overcoat or dark top coat; dark briefcase or attache case; carried a paper bag - 4x12x14 inches; brown shoes

MEMORANDUM TO ALL SPECIAL AGENTS

RE: COMPUTER SUPPORT TO THE FIELD

Sus Z
Sus X

The main thrust of our computer support effort in the past has been directed at administrative and National Crime Information Center (NCIC) matters. It is now my desire to concentrate more on ways our computers can support the Agent in the Field. This is to make you aware of the computer services that are presently available to you.

The Data Processing Section (DPS) of the Computer Systems Division is responsible for working with the Field on investigative matters. Agents with specialized backgrounds have been assigned to this Section and will assist you if some aspect of a case lends itself to computerization. This might be a large volume of records (e.g., checks, cash receipts, purchase orders, personnel records, payroll records, telephone numbers, etc.) that require sequencing, comparing or calculating, to disclose misappropriations, kiting, lapping, skimming, padding of payrolls, identities of suspects, conspiracies, etc. If you think the work can be performed more practically on the computer, you should contact the DPS.

The DPS also offers assistance in the following areas:

1. Printing records that are in computer form (e.g., records on computer tapes, disks or cards).
2. Assistance in writing search warrants for, and conducting searches of, computer installations.
3. Assistance in writing subpoenas for computer records.
4. Assistance in auditing computer records.
5. Assistance in interviewing computer personnel (e.g., computer analysts, programmers, operators, etc.).
6. Computerized Telephone Number File (CTNF) services which will resequence telephone numbers to facilitate setting leads and identifying subscribers.
7. Special searches of the NCIC current files or previous records, in addition to the normal NCIC service.

The DPS is ready to assist the Field in all future major cases. DPS has developed a "Major Case Information System," a prototype of which was used in the RESMURS Case. A similar system is presently being used in the LAGBOM and ZAPBOM Cases. From this system, the Agent can more readily determine what investigation has been conducted on the case, and what leads are still outstanding. The system will also benefit the Agent when writing reports, answering inquiries, controlling physical evidence and for file review prior to trial.

Part II, Section 3 (pages 28 and 29) of the Manual of Rules and Regulations sets forth the way to request computer support services for investigative matters. I encourage you to take full advantage of this service.

Representatives from receiving offices were in attendance at the Norjak seminar held at San Francisco, 4/8-9/76, where a suggestion was made to institute a publicity campaign for release in early November, 1976, widely publicizing a reward for any twenty-dollar bill turned in from the ransom list published in various media periodicals and possible local newspapers. This suggestion was approved at FBIHQ and efforts to initiate appropriate groundwork steps are now being taken.

viding the necessary reward money, which could be $5,000 for the first bill turned in or $1,000 each for the first five bills turned in. Final determination re reward offer is being left to the discretion of Seattle and, of course, Minneapolis based on Northwest's receptiveness to this campaign effort. If Northwest is not particularly interested in becoming reinvolved, Seattle should consider contacting other possible donor sources to the reward offer. It is felt that several organizations might be interested in the publicity that could be obtained by offering a reward of this type, however, discretion should be utilized in the choices considered and Seattle should advise the Bureau prior to accepting a source other than Northwest.

Seattle should also obtain a list of all publications previously utilized for publicity in this case, as well as, parachute associate publications, pilot publications, numismatic magazines and others that might possibly be interested in publishing serial number listings. The name and place of publication should be obtained so that at the appropriate time leads can be set out to offices covering the place of publication instructing them to make contact and request their assistance.

Seattle will prepare for eventual dissemination, an all SAC airtel requesting field-wide assistance in the contacting of local area newspapers to ask for their participation in this program. A brief synopsis of facts surrounding captioned matter should be prepared and submitted to FBIHQ for approval. This synopsis will then be included in the all SAC airtel and will be afforded interested newspapers as a lead-off story in the printing of ransom list serial numbers.

It is imperative for this program to be at all effective that we insure that the maximum amount of publicity is obtained. Therefore, if receiving offices have additional suggestions as to how this can be accomplished, they should promptly submit same to the Bureau and Seattle.

Re Seattle memo of SC [REDACTED] dated 4/7/76. ^{164-81-1a 546}

On 5/6/76, [REDACTED] Aberdeen, Washington, advised that she suspected [REDACTED] as possibly being identical with D. B. COOPER. She identified this individual as [REDACTED] however, she noted that [REDACTED] had on several occasions used the last name [REDACTED]. She then displayed a photograph of [REDACTED] taken in 1969, which depicted [REDACTED] as having a very receding hairline, however, [REDACTED] claimed the photograph was not a good representation of [REDACTED] and she felt that he had more hair than depicted. She described [REDACTED] as a white male American, age 43 or 44, 5'8" tall, 160 pounds, dark brown hair, brown eyes.

b7C

[REDACTED] stated the reason she suspected [REDACTED] as possibly being identical with D. B. COOPER were the following:

b6

He had told her that he was an ex-paratrooper; he had used the name [REDACTED] in the past and since his true last name was [REDACTED] she felt he could easily have used the name [REDACTED]. She also noted that she has had no contact with [REDACTED] since 1970 and prior to that time they had been good friends. She knew of no reason why he would be avoiding her and felt the fact that he had not visited her since that time was suspicious. She also noted that she had mentioned the possibility of [REDACTED] as being COOPER [REDACTED] and he had acknowledged this possibility.

[redacted] Northwest Orient Airlines, Inc., Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport, St. Paul, Minnesota, was contacted regarding the proposals in referenced Seattle airtel on 5/18/76.

After explaining the proposals to [redacted] he advised that his initial reaction to the publicity program was negative. [redacted] advised that he was concerned with stimulating further hijacking as well as the possible negative effects a campaign of this type would have regarding potential passengers for Northwest Airlines. [redacted] noted that after much difficulty Northwest received insurance payment from their insurance company for the ransom and feels that they should be contacted regarding this program. [redacted] advised that he desired to contact the insurance company himself and he also wants to discuss this program with his associates. Contact made with [redacted] Longview Daily News largest newspaper (circulation 26,000) in Longview RA territory on 5/27/76.

[redacted] stated while his paper was willing to cooperate in the venture of publishing serial numbers of NORJAK bills he felt the cost was prohibitive since such a publication would probably take a full page in the newspaper. However he stated that when and if definite plans are made by the FBI re the publication his paper would consider putting in the numbers on a one time basis.

He made available to the writer a paste up sheet which is what is used to set stories, articles etc. in the paper and said this could possibly assist the Bureau in determining size of a page and content.

One other newspaper in PA territory is Daily Chronicle, Centralia, Washington and they stated they also would have to have more information on format, size of item to be published etc. before definite answer could be given.

It is suggested that the paste up sheet be used for placing therein the serial numbers which could then be made available to RAs for further contacts with newspapers, magazines etc..

The writer received the distinct impression in above newspaper contacts that papers, looking at the loss of possibly one or two pages for publication of the numbers would be reticent to publish same.

Contact with media outlets regarding requests as set forth in referenced airtel has determined that before media outlets will even consider printing a volume of serial numbers, the matter must be a current, constant highlight news interest (such as the first case), and must have a constant meaningful local interest to the readership.

Enclosed for the Minneapolis Division is one copy of a list of ransom bills paid in air piracy case dated 11/29/71.

For the information of the Minneapolis Division, the enclosed lists were disseminated as suggested in referenced communication approximately five years ago. To date, none of the ransom bills have been discovered as a result of this dissemination.

It is not clear from information contained in referenced communication as to the insurance company's position concerning the new ransom proposals. Timing is critical if this new program is to be implemented; therefore, if anything is going to be done concerning these proposals, it must be done soon in order for all preliminaries to be completed prior to the planned publicity campaign in November of this year.

Enclosed are four (4) artists composites, two black and white, and two color, depicting the NORJAK unsub with and without glasses.

On November 24, 1971, a lone white male boarded Northwest Orient Flight #305 at Portland, Oregon. At approximately 3:22 P.M., while the flight was en route to Seattle, Washington, he indicated to the stewardess that his brief case contained a bomb which would blow up the plane unless his demands were met.

The hijacker demanded $200,000 and four parachutes in exchange for the safety of the 36 passengers aboard the plane. When the aircraft landed at Seattle, Northwest Orient Airlines complied with his instructions. After he received the parachutes and money, the hijacker allowed all passengers and the two airline stewardesses to deplane.

He then ordered the remaining crew members into the first-class section of the aircraft and informed them he desired to fly to Mexico City. The hijacker instructed that the plane proceed in a southerly direction and fly at a low altitude and slow speed which would enable the rear door of the plane to be opened during the flight.

The hijacker apparently bailed out somewhere between Seattle, Washington, and Reno, Nevada, where the plane landed to refuel. It was determined the hijacker, two parachutes, and the ransom money had disappeared when the plane was inspected at Reno, Nevada.

Height:	5'10" to 6'
Weight:	170 to 180 lbs.
Complexion:	Olive, Latin appearance, medium smooth
Hair:	Dark brown or black, parted on the theft, combed back
Eyes:	Possibly brown, during later part of flight the hijacker put on dark wrap-around sunglasses with dark rims
Voice:	Low, spoke intelligently, no particular accent
Characteristics:	Smoked Raleigh filter type cigarettes

Re memo of SA [REDACTED] dated 5/14/76.

On 6/4/76, [REDACTED] for the Yakima Herald-Rublic Newspaper, a daily newspaper of wide circulation in the Yakima area, advised as follows:

With regard to the FBI's request for space to run a list of ransom bill serial numbers and an accompanying article, [REDACTED] stated that his paper would probably participate in this if the entire article, including the list of serial numbers, was not extensive and could be set forth in one column of one page. [REDACTED] stated that should the printing of the serial numbers take an extensive amount of space to set forth, it would not be practical for the newspaper to run that type of article without reimbursement. [REDACTED] concluded by saying that, should the article be of reasonable size, he would coordinate having the article printed in the Yakima Herald-Rublic on a one-time basis during November, 1976.

For information of Case Agent, there are no other newspapers or periodicals of significant circulation in the Yakima area; therefore, no additional contacts were made.

'Malabar VII' may be getaway boat

At a waterfront bar in Papeete, Tahiti, I heard one of the most bizarre sea stories of our time.

Would you believe that D. B. Cooper, who bailed out of a Western Airlines plane five years ago with a fortune in cash, may be cruising the world's oceans aboard John Alden's "Malabar VII" from Dolphin Marina?

"It's our favorite fantasy," yacht broker Dan Strzech of Dana Point said, explaining how "Malabar VII," which left Marina del Rey in 1970, may be involved in the still-unsolved mystery of Cooper's successful heist.

(Cooper parachuted from an airplane over Oregon/California after successfully pulling off one of the most imaginative robberies in history, and neither he nor the money has ever been found. A current rumor among airline pilots has it that a few months ago an old parachute was discovered hanging on a tree in the area where "Cooper," as he called himself, may have landed.)

Dan and Wendell Stuech bought the Alden ya vi "Malabar VII" and departed Marina

del Rey in October, 1970, settling into a berth at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, after cruising down the Mexican coastline, through the Panama Canal and exploring the coastline of Venezuela and Colombia and the islands of the British West Indies and the Bahamas aboard the 54-foot wooden yawl which had won the 1926 Bermuda Race with designer Alden at her helm and a schooner rig.

"Malabar VII," one of a dozen and a half boats personally owned by Alden at launching, was offered for sale by the Streeches who left her in Fort Lauderdale and returned to the West Coast, Dan to Dana Point where he began selling boats, and his dad to the family home in Arizona.

"This man who called himself Mike Selzer decided to buy our boat," Dan said, "and he'd looked at a lot of boats. He may have bought ours because we were willing to take his camper as a trade-in. This was about two months after Cooper had made his getaway from the airplane.

"Selzer drove his camper to my folks' home in Arizona, and they spent a lot of time visiting before he took off for Florida. My dad says Selzer mentioned he had worked as a smoke jumper."

Six weeks after Selzer delivered the camper "nearly new, with only 2,000 miles on it," Dan said the F.B.I. turned up at the Streech home "and the agents said the man we knew as Selzer fitted the description of Cooper perfectly. The F.B.I. men also said some of the money Cooper bailed out with had turned up in Las Vegas."

"Malabar VII" with new owner Mike Selzer has never turned up anywhere, Dan added.

BACK PACKING IN FRENCH POLYNESIA

Dan was on his way to the Tahiti airport after three weeks of hiking around the islands of Tahiti, Moorea, Huahine, Raiatea and Bora Bora with a back pack. He'd gone from one island to another as a passenger on the copra boat "Tapora III," hiking days and sleeping nights on the beaches. He said the land-crabs didn't chew on him (the local rumor that keeps visitors from camping on the beaches) and very few mosquitos took a bite: "I was taking Vitamins B 12 and B 6 and I understand if you do that, the mosquitos aren't interested. Anyway, I only got one or two bites a day."

He spent about $300 in three weeks (plus $750 round-trip air fare from Los Angeles) and most of the places where he camped were near native huts "and the Tahitians brought me food." He recalled buying "mostly bread, with lots of peanut butter and jelly."

In his back pack: a sleeping bag, a bedsheet, swim fins and mask, Sterno and freeze-dried food, one pair of long pants, one pair of cut-offs, a swim suit "and three or four shirts."

On Bora Bora, Dan spent two days reading a ship's log kept by Hans Fleish "at the Oa Oa, or perhaps you spell it Oahoa Hotel. Hans caters to visiting yachts and has free hot showers for boating people. Then he asks them to write about their voyages in his log. Some people even draw pictures. I couldn't stop reading about it."

A night or two he'd stay at the hotel, Dan recalled. That's unusual, because in French Polynesia, where a room or bungalow may run as high as $95 a night and the average is about $50 with two meals.

The best hotel-bargain has got to be a place in Tahiti near downtown Papeete where you pay 150 francs ($2.14) for a room. Unless you want a door, then it's 200 francs.

Across from the cruising boats on Papeete's waterfront is the Stewart Hotel (about $10), a favorite among cruising people who want to get off their boats. At the opposite end of the spectrum are the big glassy high-rise hotels where you pay $50 and more to meet other tourists.

I stumbled into a happy compromise: the aging Te Puna Be Air, a hotel four miles outside Papeete frequented by Americans and Europeans who visit Tahiti often. Quiet, charming and inexpensive by Tahiti standards (about $20-$22), it's sandwiched between two American-style luxury hotels and you can hike over to their white-sand beaches.

One of the charms of the Te Puna Be Air is its inconsistencies: I met four women from Sacramento who were staying there and they had no hot water (I did), I had a wasp nest on my balcony (they didn't), they had ice in a refrigerator (I didn't) but I had a bottle of Scotch (they didn't). We pooled our resources and soon felt we had a luxury suite.

Also, we met island people who treat the hotel bar and restaurant as a local hangout. Two of us explored a nearby reef with American scuba divers who live in Tahiti, and while we snorkeled on the surface, they went down 150 feet and brought up black coral.

They called it coral whips, and it looked like wire coat hangers someone had straightened out. They said it sells for about $300 a pound locally.

ISLAND-HOPPING BY BOAT

Inter-island freighters offer expeditions for visitors: one is a 40 day trip with stops at 116 islands and atolls, and it costs about $300. For the visitor on a brief vacation, John Stegenga of the schooner "Candide," four years out of Marina del Rey, suggested this one which he took:

"The 'Timi Hani,' a 150 foot diesel freighter, leaves Papeete every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. You sleep on deck with other travelers, including many Tahitians who sing and dance at night, and there are always people playing guitars.

"The freighter puts in at Huahine, Raiatea, Tahaa and Bora Bora and you go ashore and buy food at the Chinese grocery stores that are always close to the docks. You cook on deck.

"The 'Timi Hani' brings you back to Papeete on Sunday or Monday and you have spent about 700 francs ($10) plus groceries for a week-long tour of some of the most beautiful islands in the South Pacific."

Re memo of SA [REDACTED] 5/14/76.

On 6/8/76, [REDACTED] "Bremerton Sun", was advised of the plan, now being contemplated, to offer a reward for any of the bait money turned in in connection with this matter.

[REDACTED] stated that that newspaper would be happy to cooperate in the plan should it materialize and he raised the question of how many bait bill numbers would have to be published. He explained it would be very tedious, cumbersome and expensive to print and publish the list of bait bills if it was an extensive list. He explained that the paper has an offset printing press and that if the FBI could furnish an offset proof publishing the list of serial numbers would be simple and involve little or no expense to the newspaper.

He reiterated that his paper would be happy to cooperate in the plan if and when it materializes.

RECOMMENDATION

If the plan as set out in re memo is initiated, it is recommended that "offset proofs", be prepared in advance to facilitate publication of the bait bills.

It is noted that the "Bremerton Sun" is the leading newspaper on the Olympic Peninsula and covers all of Kitsap and Jefferson Counties.

This date [redacted] Royal Insurance Company, 150 Williams Street, New York, New York 10038 telephonically contacted the writer at Longview RA. She advised name of writer was given to her by the company's [redacted] in Seattle, Washington, [redacted] telephone [redacted] as a person familiar with captioned matter.

b6

[redacted] stated she has been contacted by [redacted] Kirikland, Washington telephone [redacted] (home and business) who stated he [redacted]

b6

[redacted] advised that he has a [redacted] and stated he knows where money from this case is located, and would try to get it for the company. He gave no specific details of positively knowing where the money was located except to say it was in water near a dam where COOPER jumped from the plane. Undoubtedly he was referring to Lake Merwin and dam at that location.

She pointed out that he originally approached Northwest Airlines re this matter and was referred to an attorney who represented Northwest Airlines in litigation concerning payment by Royal Insurance to Northwest which was the insurance carrier for the airline. She stated that the company fought payment of the sum of $210,000 in court but after litigation were told to pay the amount and this has been paid. Under rights of subrogation Royal now has right, title and interest to the money COOPER received.

[redacted] told her he would be willing to undertake a search of the lake with [redacted] in hopes of recovery of same. She stated she knew that the FBI had serial numbers of all the bills and had in fact pictures of each bill. He stated that if the money was found it would be surrendered to Royal and his payment would be one half of all recovered monies. He did not want a down payment and had no minimum charge but would do everything at his own risk with his final objective being the 50-50 split. He stated he wanted a contract to specifically set out this 50-50 split with Royal and [redacted] advised that based on this proposition she had their Seattle representative conduct a background check to determine whether [redacted] was legitimate.

NCUA Final Regulation Governing Records Preservation Program Effective January 1, 1973

WE WELCOME OUR NEW
COOPER.

Donald Cooper was appointed Managing Director of the New York State Credit Union League, Inc., effective January 15, 1973.

Don comes to New York with twenty years of consumer finance experience, nine and a half years of which were spent in the small loan and discount fields where he received his basic training.

Realizing that a greater service could be rendered through credit unions, he started his credit union career with the East Moline Works Credit Union, East Moline, Illinois, as its first full-time Loan Officer.

Don was appointed as Assistant General Manager of the State Capitol Credit Union, St. Paul, Minnesota, to assist in the reconstruction of one of the country's largest credit unions to be taken over by a regulatory body because of prior mis-management.

After this credit union was well on its way to recovery, and once again taking its place as a multi-million dollar credit union, Don accepted the challenge of League work in North Dakota where he spent three and a half years as Managing Director.

Just prior to his arrival on the New York scene, Don completed a one-year tour in Uganda, East Africa,

The provisions of the new regulation are as follows:

1. The Treasurer of the credit union must develop and maintain a records preservation program (RPP) to include off-site storage for duplicate vital records at a place sufficiently removed from the location of the credit union. The responsibility for the RPP may be delegated to the person who manages the day-to-day operations of the credit union.

2. The RPP must be developed by May 1, 1973, or four months after date of credit union's share insurance certificate, whichever is later.

The initial set of duplicate records must be sent to the off-site Vital Records Center (VRC) by July 1, 1973, or six months after the effective date of the credit union's share insurance certificate, whichever is later.

3. Thereafter, credit unions using Electronic Data Processing (EDP) shall send duplicate records to the VRC on a quarterly basis and mailed no later than the 30th day of the following month.

Non-EDP credit unions shall also prepare and send duplicate vital records to the VRC on a quarterly basis to be mailed by the 30th day of the following month.

4. Duplicates of the following vital records must be stored:

- a. A listing of member's share and/or deposit and loan balances.
- b. Member's account number.
- c. A financial and statistical report as of the record date.
- d. Credit unions using EDP which maintains its members' share and/or deposit and loan ledgers on a data processing system shall be deemed to have met the requirements of this ReBuairtel, 5/5/76.

Inquiry with the two major newspapers in San Francisco, revealed they had no interest in publishing the serial numbers of the $20 bills used in captioned case. This conclusion was made even after this office attempted to point out how such publication of the bills could increase their circulation. After one of the newspapers had said it had no interest in publishing the serial numbers, this information was passed on to the other paper to consider the exclusiveness it would have in publishing the serial numbers. This approach also proved unproductive.

Contacts with other newspapers in this Division were also met with negative results.

Criminal checks at the Seattle Police Department, King County Department of Public Safety and the Auburn Police Department on 6/1/76 revealed no record for the suspect [REDACTED]. Credit check with Credit Data Northwest on 6/2/76 also revealed no record.

In view of the fact that [REDACTED] was suggested as a suspect in this matter based on description and his driver's license shows him to be quite dissimilar in physical appearance, both in height, weight and appearance from the artist composite of UNSUB; and due to the fact that there is a definite lack of any real evidence to indicate he is involved in this matter, no further investigation will be conducted concerning [REDACTED] at this time.
